CALL OF CTHULHU: DEAD BUT DREAMING 2

No one is safe. You aren't safe. Ancient and inimical, the alien influences of the Cthulhu Mythos are all around us. In our cities, our nightclubs, our backyards, and heading for our front porches. From the dreaming city of Kingsport, Massachusetts, to the lonely northern woods and the barren western deserts, they are here, destroying us, devouring us, shattering our minds with the one truth we cannot bear to admit: that no matter what we do we cannot escape the fact that, deep down, we are very much like them. Herein are 22 tales of Lovecraftian horror from the modern masters of Cthulhu Mythos fiction, including Scott David Aniolowski, David Annandale, Cody Goodfellow, John Goodrich, Will Murray, W. H. Pugmire, Joseph S. Pulver Sr, and Darrell Schweitzer, among others. Scheduled to ship in April 2011. MRP 0013.....$19.99

ANZAC INFANTRYMAN 1914-15: FROM NEW GUINEA TO GALLIOLI

Worried about the growing power of Japan and the German Far Eastern colonies, Australia and New Zealand had both introduced conscription in 1912. When war broke out in 1914, the men already in the system provided a small nucleus of trained soldiers, but at least half of those who went on to serve abroad had no previous military experience. Australians rushed to the colors even before their government had formally offered troops to Britain. This title explores the recruitment, training, and combat experiences of the famous ANZAC infantry in the opening years of World War I. Scheduled to ship in May 2011.
