Unable to conduct ground operations on the European continent until Allied strength was marshalled for a full-scale invasion, the British government based its grand strategy in World War II on a protracted campaign of aerial bombardment of Nazi Germany's cities in order to bring the Third Reich to its knees. The RAF introduced the huge four-engined Avro Lancaster in 1942 and used it to spearhead this aerial offensive. BLACKBEARD'S LAST FIGHT - PIRATE HUNTING IN NORTH CAROLINA 1718

In April 1713, in the wake of the War of the Spanish Succession, hundreds of privateers, now out of a job, turned to piracy. Among them was Edward Teach - more popularly known as "Blackbeard". He joined the pirate ranks in New Providence, and by early 1717 had become a pirate captain, causing havoc off the North American seaboard, and establishing a base for pirate forays on Ocracoke Island in North Carolina's outer banks. In the neighboring colony of Virginia, Governor Alexander Spotswood decided to take action! The attack on Blackbeard's lair was the largest anti-piracy operation of the "Golden Age of Piracy", and a textbook example of how to deal with the scourge of piracy. Scheduled to ship in June 2013.
